

Child Psychology and Support of Jr. League, Clinic Told Kiwanis

Dr. Henry L. Bibby Spoke on Child Psychology and Asked Support for Junior League—Mrs. De la Vergne Told of Child's Play December 2.

A brief survey of child psychology from the standpoint of genetics and an appeal to members of the Kiwanis Club to support the activities of the Kingston Junior League Welfare Clinic by aiding the coming production of that organization on December 21, was the message brought to Kiwanis Thursday noon by Dr. Henry L. Bibby, child specialist and director of the Junior League Clinic, who spoke in the interests of the underprivileged child.

Preceding the luncheon Mrs. Charles De la Vergne addressed the club on the children's play, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," to be presented at the Broadway Theatre on December 9. Mrs. De la Vergne explained that this was not a charity proposition, and that it was not produced to make money, but was for the enjoyment of all of the little ones in Kingston and vicinity, and she appealed to the club members to aid in sending underprivileged children to see this show, which she explained was performed by the finest company of its kind in the country.

One guest was present at the meeting, Harry J. Regan of Albany. Three new members were formally initiated to the ranks of Kiwanis: Clinton Finger, Walter Brown and Roger Loughran. The ritual was conducted by Clarence Rowland, after which President Brandoff pinned the new members, the club welcoming them with a song.

Dr. Raymond S. Crispell, chairman of the program committee, introduced the speaker.

Dr. Bibby explained that all of his medical career since 1914 had been connected with children's clinics exclusively, that he owned a great deal to underprivileged children who were responsible in a great measure for his knowledge. He told of the founding of one of the first pre-school clinics at St. Luke's Hospital in New York City, and how with the passing of years pre-school clinics had become very common in every community.

The speaker then traced the wants of the child from the prenatal stage through the "run-about" stage (when a child learns to crawl and walk) and explained that two methods of satisfying these wants were found by the child. The first, he explained, was that the child will satisfy a want by doing something that accomplished that desire or lying in reality, and the second he classified as the child who was satisfied by a fantasy. Dr. Bibby stated that during this period in a child's life his character as a grown-up was likely to take form, and explained that the child of the first classification was likely to become a good citizen while the second was apt to be a "tramp" type, who thought, the world owed him a living.

Need of Clinics. It was Dr. Bibby's opinion that the character of a person was finally determined in most cases when the child was from five to seven years old, and that parents often did not give the child proper attention during this period. "The infant is something more than an object to be fed and watched," stated the speaker, "and there is a great need for child health, welfare and pre-school clinics, to aid in giving the underprivileged child proper attention and treatment."

The speaker closed with a survey of the Junior League clinic caring for 307 infants and children. He explained that the Junior League operated this clinic with no hope of profit, but to aid the underprivileged children. In closing he appealed to the Kiwanians to support this clinic and the play that the Junior League will present later in the month.

President Brandoff thanked the speaker and called attention to the great interest of the Kiwanis Club in the underprivileged child as evidenced by the Kiwanis dental clinic and milk fund. He solicited the support of the members in behalf of the Junior League.

Community singing and the musical part of the program, was in charge of Paul Zucca, accompanied at the piano by Danny Bittner.

Verdict Of No Cause In Ambulance Case

A verdict of no cause of action was returned this morning in county court in the negligence action brought by Selma and Harry Heit against Charles Clum, Harry J., and George H. Smith, doing business as Seamon Brothers. The action grew out of a collision between the Heit car and one of the Seamon Brothers ambulances at Broadway and West O'Reilly street on February 10, while a patient was being transported from West Saugerties to the Benedictine Hospital. The ambulance was proceeding across Broadway to enter West O'Reilly street when the Heit car struck it. Judge Bernard Culliton appeared for plaintiff and H. H. Flemming for defendant.

All jurors were excused for the term and Judge Traver adjourned the term.

TWO MORE CASES BEFORE COMMISSIONER CONNELLY Marshall Anselmo was held for arraignment before Commissioner Connelly this morning following his arrest by investigators from the Kingston prohibition office, who seized alleged home brew at 183 Greenhill avenue. He was charged with possession and sale.

French Note Asks For Suspension Of $20,000,000 Interest

Expresses Satisfaction That President Hoover Was Disposed To Recommend New Examination Of Debt Question As A Whole.

Paris, Dec. 2 (AP).—The second French note requesting postponement of the war debt payment due the United States in December noted with satisfaction today that President Hoover was disposed to recommend to Congress a new examination of the debt question as a whole. The French text of the note which had previously been sent to Washington was made public shortly after noon today and renewed the request for suspension of the $20,000,000 interest.

In closing the document says that: "The reception which will be given on the request is awaited with confidence by the French government, which realizes all of the consequences which the decision of the President of the United States may have for improving or making worse the tragic situation resulting from the World War."

As for the recommendations of the American President, which was contained in his original reply to the French request for postponement, the communication said that from the French viewpoint this implied the President believed such a study seemed necessary.

It was added that France realizes a reduction of Europe's debts to the United States would react on the American economic situation.

Since the modification of the French debt granted by the United States in 1926, the gravity of the economic and financial crisis has forced all interested governments to modify their positions with respect to the settlement of intergovernmental debts, and to adopt a series of concerted measures affecting reparations and debts, says the note.

"The French government," it says, "desires to emphasize that it never has thought of contesting the juridical validity of the various agreements which are the basis of the war debts."

Refers to Moratorium. The postponement now requested, says the memorandum, is the normal sequel to President Hoover's initiative in declaring the moratorium of 1931 and leaves intact the rights of both parties.

Referring again to the moratorium, the note emphasizes that the American memorandum at the time of its declaration admitted the weight of the burden of intergovernmental debts in this period of crisis.

Referring to the Hoover-Laval communique issued at Washington last summer, the note recalls that that document stated that a new arrangement concerning the intergovernmental debts for the period of the depression might be necessary, provided that the initiative came from the European powers chiefly interested.

Europe, the note says, did its part and granted Germany a reduction of 90 per cent in a three-year moratorium on reparations.

The agreement reached at Lausanne, was, in the mind of Europe, to be part of a general rearrangement of governmental payments, the French government wrote.

"It would be grave indeed," says the note, "if the agreement obtained with such much difficulty at Lausanne should have to be reconsidered."

"Would it not be equitable if, in the same spirit of international solidarity and in consolidating the results already achieved, the American government would accept in its turn postponement of the December interest?"

President Hoover's moratorium was inspired by a desire to re-establish world prosperity, says the note, but the economic depression of 1931, been greatly aggravated since 1931.

"Everywhere misery and unemployment are increasing. This depression can only get worse if intergovernmental debts must be paid before negotiations can be undertaken to revise them."

Garner Repeal Bill Before Committee Washington, Dec. 2 (AP).—The Garner repeal resolution with provision for convention ratification the sharpest issue, came to its first legislative hurdle today as the House judiciary committee prepared to consider it.

Moves were to be made to substitute ratification by state legislatures instead of conventions, but beyond this threatened dispute leaders seemed confident it would encounter no serious opposition and would be reported favorably for the scheduled House vote Monday.

As wet and dry forces squared away for that big test, a promise of quick action in the Senate on both repeal and beer came from Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

Shriners to Send Children to Play

The Shriners have today notified Mrs. Charles de la Vergne, chairman of the play committee, that it is their desire to send twenty-five under privileged children of Kingston as their guests to the performance of "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" at the Broadway Theatre on December 9, and have requested that the tickets be forwarded, with their compliments, to Mrs. Frederick Snyder, chairman of the Volunteer Relief Committee.

Plans for the transportation of the children of the Sacred Heart Orphanage at West Park, for whom tickets have already been provided, are not yet complete. Peter Black, of the Hudson Motor Company, has generously offered the use of two of his cars, but at least ten more cars are required. Anyone willing to offer the use of one from 3 to 3:30 and from 5:30 to 8 on December 9 for the transportation of these children to and from the theatre may do so by telephoning Mrs. Charles de la Vergne, 2218.

LEHMAN CALLS LEGISLATURE TO AID NEW YORK CITY Albany, N. Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—With New York City, second largest in the world, facing what he called a financial crisis Acting Governor Herbert H. Lehman announced early this morning that he will call upon the state legislature to convene in extraordinary session next Friday and pave the way for an estimated saving of $20,000,000 by enabling the city to reduce employees' salaries, now fixed by law.

The announcement was made after a conference between Mr. Lehman, acting governor and governor-elect, the heads of two of the world's largest banking institutions, and Mayor Joseph W. McKee and comptroller Charles W. Berry of New York City.

New York is now making up its new budget, and the regular session of the legislature will not begin until January 4.

"Unless immediate steps are taken by the city to effect substantial economies in the cost of municipal government," the acting governor said, "a critical situation will develop."

The bankers, Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the National City Bank, and Winthrop W. Aldrich, president of the Chase National, both of New York, had assured Colonel Lehman that reduction in the city's expenditures is imperative if the city is to retain its borrowing power.

Y., Dec. 2 (AP).—Police today investigated the story of Robert Pedrick, 14-year old son of a restaurant owner, who returning home last night with a well over his right eye said he had been kidnapped by three men who demanded $25,000 ransom.

The boy declared the three men fled, one of them striking him with a blackjack, when an automobile approached a barn on the old Helwig farm where he had been taken.

Robert said he was writing a note to his father, demanding a ransom, when the men were frightened away. He was knocked unconscious, according to his story, and when he recovered the kidnapers were gone.

Ask Van Schleicher To Form Cabinet Berlin, Dec. 2 (AP).—President von Hindenburg today asked General Kurt von Schleicher, "mystery man" in German politics and at present the defense minister, to form a presidential cabinet.

General von Schleicher has been regarded as the almost certain choice for the chancellorship ever since Chancellor Franz von Papen's junker government stepped out after last month's election.

The general was summoned to the president's study this morning, and after a conference there walked out with a mandate to form a government.

If successful, he was commissioned to occupy the chancellorship himself, instead of the defense ministry he held during von Papen's tenure of government by decree.

In the von Papen cabinet, however, General von Schleicher was looked upon as the power behind the government in his "key" ministry.

Board of Supervisors Voluntarily Accept Salary Slash in Move Toward County Economy—Reduced Salaries Will be for 1933—Expect All County Employees Will Accept Cuts—Board Plans Strict Economy.

A ten per cent reduction in wages for all county officials and employees will go into effect on January first, 1933. This reduction which will affect all county employees is a temporary one to be in effect for the year 1933 in order to help out the present economic situation and help the taxpayers reduce their burden of high taxation.

The economy keynote was sounded first by the supervisors themselves when they voluntarily accepted a 10 per cent reduction in their own salaries of $350 per year. A communication signed by all of the supervisors present at the session Thursday evening stated that they would in the interest of lower taxes accept a voluntary reduction of 10 per cent for the year 1933 in order that the taxpayers might be relieved of some of their tax burdens which have become so large that economy is being sought at every quarter. Following the lead of the county legislators, the other county officials whose salaries are fixed by statute all agreed to accept a voluntary cut of 10 per cent for the year and Supervisor Lamourie offered a resolution that all committees and county officials' salaries be reduced 10 per cent in accordance with the voluntary offer of the individuals. This resolution went over under the rule but since all those affected by the reduction have agreed to the cut the resolution of the Supervisor from Saugerties will undoubtedly be carried unanimously by the board.

Following the resolution of Supervisor Lamourie a similar resolution was offered by Supervisors Wells, Lamourie and Weber to the effect that all county employees under civil service accept a 10% reduction in wages for the year 1933 in order to help out the present emergency. This resolution went over under the rule.

This reduction of 10% in salaries next year will effect a saving of something like $12,000 in the salary account and thus relieve the taxpayers to that extent.

Economy Keynote. Economy is the keynote of the board of supervisors this session. Every member is talking of economy measures and the voluntary reduction of 10% in salaries taken by the board members indicates the seriousness with which they are taking the matter.

Following the receipt of the communication signed by the supervisors accepting and consenting to the 10% reduction communications were read from various county officials stating that in the interest of economy they were willing to take a similar cut during 1933. County Attorney Robert G. Groves in a communication offered to take a reduction in the interest of economy. His annual salary is $3,000.

The 10% reduction will be taken out pro rata each month. Communications were received from the following officials agreeing to the reduction for the year 1933: County Commissioner of Public Welfare W. W. McElhiney, salary $2,500.

County Superintendent of Highways James F. Loughran, salary $4,500.

Incoming Sheriff John H. Saxe, salary $3,500.

Ulster County Clerk James Simpson, salary $5,500.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray, salary $3,500.

County Treasurer Arthur Rice, salary $5,500.

County Judge Frederick G. Traver, salary $6,200.

Clerk of the Board of Supervisors Henry R. DeWitt, salary $2,500.

Surrogate George F. Kaufman, salary $5,000.

In addition there are many other assistants, clerks and employees who will be affected by the adoption of the resolution offered.

The total saving to the county will be in excess of $12,000 on salaries for 1933.

Other matters taken up before the board and acted on were:

The report of the committee on printing which stated the committee had examined bills and found them to be correct and that the whole amount claimed was $23,736.99 and that amount had been allowed. The committee recommended that in addition there be raised the sum of $3,000 to pay for the printing of enrollment for 1932. The report was signed by Supervisors Dushinbere and Voss. Later a resolution was offered by Supervisors Dushinbere, Voss and Feeney that the report be adopted and that the above amounts be raised on the county. Over.

Clerk and Surrogate Supervisors Armater, Wells and George, committee on county clerk and surrogate, reported that they had examined bills amounting to $384.75 and found them correct and that the report of the county clerk had been examined and found to be correct and they moved the report of the committee be adopted and the above

Champagne Crop Short
Rheims, France (P).—Champagne of 1932 vintage will be fine in quality but small in quantity, experts announce. Because demand for the sparkling wine has decreased, the producers plan to blend most of it with lower quality previous vintages so as to improve the general quality of the stock.

Report on Finnish Crime.
Helsinki (P).—The ministry of justice reports that murder and other crimes of violence have decreased, but thefts and crimes against property have increased since repeal of Finland's prohibition laws. Infractions against the new alcohol law are fewer than those against prohibition.

Divorce Grows in Scotia.

BETTING CRAZE HITS ENGLAND ENDANGERING NATION'S "PUBS"

London (P).—English "pub" keepers have opened a heavy offensive against the thousands of legalized gambling clubs which have spread over the nation like dandelions in spring.

The reason is the intense competition which the club bars offer the public houses.

To serve beer and whiskey the "pubs" must pay heavy license fees and maintain certain standards of sanitation and service.

The betting clubs, which make use of the part-mutual system, are organized under the club regulations, escape the heavy tax, and figure on making most of their money out of the betting.

Many of the clubs are operated in chains, and one system of 30 clubs is said to cater to more than 100,000 persons daily.

Betting is permitted on horse races and dog races and 50 per cent of the bettors in some suburbs are said to be women.

Bets run as low as 25 cents, and one may gamble from the first afternoon horse race to the last night dog race.

In poorer sections the membership fee is a shilling or less than 20 cents.

In the swanky west end the clubs are bigger and so are the bets. One club there covers an acre and can handle more than 500 "members."

The clubs are popular not alone in London and its many suburbs, but in the other large English cities as well.

Hospitality
Another thing we can get along without is people whose apparent ambition is to see whether their guests can talk louder than their radio.—Nashville Banner.

It's the easiest thing in the world to see why Feen-a-mint is such an all-around satisfactory laxative. It's so pleasant to take, for one thing. Just a delicious piece of gum that even children like. And the very fact that you chew it makes all the laxative work every time. That makes it thorough yet gentle in action because the laxative is evenly distributed throughout the digestive tract. Safe, non-habit-forming, economical. At all druggists.

MOSLEM SABBATH CHANGE FINDS FAVOR IN ISTANBUL

Istanbul (AP)—A plebiscite conducted by the semi-official daily Djumhuriyet shows that Istanbul readers favor changing the Moslem day of rest from Friday to Sunday.

Turkish merchants and bankers are urging the Ankara parliament to put through this reform, which would break the new Turkey's last link with the old Moslem world.

At present Turkey actually has only three full working days a week. On Sunday her Christian subjects lay off, on Friday the Moslems and on Saturday the Jews. Nobody likes to make any important deal on Tuesday, which is considered a bad luck day.

The superstition comes from the fact that it was on a Tuesday that Constantinople fell to the Moslem invaders in 1453. Curiously, the Moslem Turks have imbibed the Tuesday complex from descendants of the conquered Byzantines.

Brighton, England (AP)—Eamonn de Valera, president of the Irish Free State, is going to court here to defend a legacy of $12,500 willed to him by an aged spinster recluse, the Brighton coroner has revealed.

Miss Mary Fitzpatrick, 72, died here in July, and her brother in Dublin claimed money found in a strong box kept to her bed.

Later the folds of an old skirt revealed a will leaving all her property to President de Valera. The brother is contesting the will.

DURING HARD TIMES

Mothers are worried about the children's health. For over thirty years Mother Gray's Sweet Powders for children have been the standard remedy. They break up the colds, croup, whooping cough, and all the ailments of childhood. They are the only medicine that is both safe and effective. Sample written Mother Gray's Sweet Powders, New York.

Health Is half of success

Few men achieve their goal without vitality and drive. And so many are held back from their best by a common ailment: constipation. It dulls energy, often causes headaches, sleeplessness. It takes the vim out of your day's work.

Correct constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show Kellogg's All-Brans supplies "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it becomes a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than using pills and drugs—so often harmful.

Two tablespoons daily will correct most types of constipation. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

JACKETS are gaining in favor every day and they're being worn for all occasions this season. Here are three smart models. The after-6-o'clock costume at left is worn by Frances Dee, film actress. The outfit, smart for dinner and theatre wear, comprises a frock and jacket of dull black velvet. The jacket has sleeves and collar or ermine.

THE evening jacket (center), designed by Schiaparelli, is made of white quilted ribbon, a new and popular fabric. It is worn with a frock of blue wool jersey. At right Wynne Gibson, film actress, shows a gray wool and fur ensemble. The jacket, designed for all-around wear, is made of gray caracul, and is worn with a frock of gray rabbit's hair cloth.

New York State's apple crop this year is estimated at 20,000,000 bushels. Thousands of bushels will rot because of a lack of sufficient consumer demand. Take advantage of the situation—use the apple recipes which will appear in each issue of this paper—cut them out for future reference.

Butterfly Farm

It has been noted by gardeners, horticulturists and growers of flowers around the home that some years there is a noticeable absence of butterflies—those flying, fluttering flowers that help so much in making a perfect garden. In England now this want can be supplied. In a garden in the town of Bexley all kinds of butterflies are raised for the market. Hundreds in sacks amid weeds and flowers are hundreds of caterpillars feed on their favorite food, and when they are ready for the chrysalis stage they are taken into the greenhouse and kept in cages. The butterfly farmer would sell to anybody, but his main customers so far have been collectors from schools, museums and the zoo.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Dress For a New or a Favorite Old Doll.

7733. Little doll mothers are ever busy planning new frocks for Miss Dolly's wardrobe. Here is a model that is easy to make, and pleasing. It has a comfortable armcye and a choice of two sleeves, one—a long sleeve gathered to a sleeveband at the wrist—the other is short and will puff nicely on Dolly's arm. The collar is small and boyish and will not bind or hurt the neck, and the skirt is full enough to be comfortable. Mother's scrap bag may yield enough material to make this little frock, for which percale and other cotton prints are good. Silk or batiste is nice too.

Designed in 8 sizes for Dolls: 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22 and 24 inches long. It will require 3/4 yard yard of 32 inch material for size 14 if made as in the large view. If made with long sleeves 2-3 yard will be required. The collar of contrasting material will require 1-5 yard 15 inches wide.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Fuzzing

The late Senator Gillette, like most statesmen from Massachusetts, was noted for his polished sarcasm. He was never excited but cold and smooth as burnished steel. When he became the veteran member, a reporter asked him if he could recall his first appearance in Washington, as a newly elected member of the house of representatives.

"Well," replied Gillette, "I expect I felt very much like the other new member who said that when he first saw his distinguished fellow-members, he wondered how he himself ever got there, but when he came to know them better, he wondered how in thunder the rest of them ever got there."

"Why should anyone make a fuss about a bad habit or two?" asks a reader. Habits which begin as cobwebs have a habit of ending as cables. Early correction spells freedom.

Fashions by Eleanor Gunn

Winter Woolens Are Smarter Than They Sound

New York—Women are certainly all agog over knitted dresses, suits and ensembles. Shops have sections in which instructions are given for making your own, and everywhere one goes, there are knitted dresses or warm, woolly-looking costumes termed variously rabbit, ostrich, angora wool, and so on. It's a pleasant change from the silk crepes of yesterday. The very women who felt it only right to wear silk all day and all night too, now seem to have transferred their allegiance to wool and have, except for lingerie, forgotten all about silk.

Speaking of lingerie reminds me, too, that wool underwear is back! It is no longer fashionable to shiver in next to nothing. There are fluffy, downy, dainty undies, snug and altogether just what they should be, the great point being that some genius has contrived to make wool underwear attractive!

What with three layers of wool, we should be warm. Then, too, hats are wool—broadcloth novelty jersey, knit fabrics, and all manner of things—usually a piece of the dress or coat fabric.

Milliners are busy making hats to match the costume and are fitting them, of course, then adding brims of various widths and shapes, most of which are stitched. There are still berets for those who want them. There are also turbans with twisted or braided edges—little skull caps, really—that may be worn as is most becoming.

There are also knitted purses and cloth ones, tweeds and so on. Fur ones are also beginning to be seen about town, worn with fur coats or with fur hats. Persian lamb continues to be much the rage. It is outnumbered by fox, but the women who liked trim, smart lines are greatly influenced by Persian lamb.

DID YOU KNOW THAT

Flowers, and all sorts of novelty fastenings which prove the infinite diversity of the old-time button, are among the very important tricky details in vogue.

Married Women's Club Meeting

The Young Married Women's Club of the Y. W. C. A. held its regular meeting on Thursday afternoon, with Dr. Henry Lambert Bibby as the guest speaker. Dr. Bibby's subject, "Child Psychology", was a very popular one with the group and about 40 were in attendance, all of whom took the deepest interest in the subject and in Dr. Bibby's valuable interpretation of the development of the pre-school child.

Mrs. R. G. Lewis, the president, graciously introduced the speaker who told a little of his work at St. Luke's Hospital with child clinics and of the capacity of children for development between the time of birth and the fifth or sixth year. First comes the basic need—that of hunger—and its satisfaction; then the second basic need—that of attention—and its satisfaction; and then the many changes that make up the complexity of each individual. He discussed several of Freud's theories on the development of the child and emphasized to the mothers that each should aim to train her child in its early years to adapt itself to its environment. The great difficulty, of course, is that each mother is dealing with her own. Above all, Dr. Bibby stressed the need of control in the parent if training is to have the desired effect on the child.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting and announcement was made of the next meeting on December 15, the Christmas party. Each member was requested to bring a 10-cent toy for distribution with the Y. W. C. A. boxes of Christmas cheer.

The public is invited to attend. On Monday, December 5, the Grange will hold its regular meeting. At this time the election of new officers for the coming year will also take place. All Grangers are requested to be present.

Ho Hum!
A Boston authority makes a bid for newspaper fame by saying that mosquitoes weep. It sounds plausible, as we've often seen a moth ball.

At The Theatres

Today
Kingston: "Man against Woman." Jack Holt is starred in this vehicle, and supporting him in the cast is Lillian Niles. Several short features complete the program.
Orpheum: "The Last Mile" and "Big City Blues" are the double feature offerings at the Orpheum. Howard Phillips and Preston Foster are among the players in the first talkie, a drama of the death cell in a large prison, with several condemned prisoners supplying the action. The direction in this play is flawless, and its realism makes it worth seeing. "Big City Blues" gives Joan Blondell and Eric Linden another opportunity in a modern story of romance in the metropolis.
Broadway: "Once in a Lifetime."

The famous burlesque of Hollywood and the movie folks, that was such a riot on the stage, has been made into a talkie that is as hilarious and rib tickling as any comedy that has come out of the picture studios. All the satire and fun that was poked at Hollywood in the stage version of the play has been left intact, and this show must be classed as excellent comedy, a real four star attraction. The story concerns a dumb and successful motion picture director who makes the wrong picture incidentally, and surrounding him are actors, actresses, movie moguls, etc. All burlesqued beautifully for the enjoyment of the audience. A perfect cast that includes Jack Oakie, Sidney Fox, Aline MacMahon, Louise Fazenda, Russell Hopton, Zasu Pitts, Mona Maris, Gregory Ratoff and Onslow Stevens all contribute outstanding performances. For a good laugh, this is worth while.

Hitz: "Tonight or Never" and "Anybody's Blonde" are the screen offerings. The first stars Gloria Swanson with Murray Douglas in a romantic tale of a grand opera singer who seeks love and finds it. The second talkie features Dorothy Revier.

Tomorrow
Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: Same.
Broadway: Same.

County Officials Accept Salary Cut

being cut was it necessary to raise such a sum.

Supervisor Dunsberg, a member of the committee, stated that there were four large bridges in the county which needed to be rebuilt. One temporary bridge he said at Napanoch had stood for some time and should be replaced. He said it was unfair to criticize this request for the appropriation which had been made by Mr. Loughran, county superintendent.

Everyone knew that Mr. Loughran was interested in economy and giving the people the best service. Many bridges in Rochester and Denning damaged by the flood stood. He said Mr. Loughran would not spend any of the money unless necessary.

Mr. Markle arose and stated that he was not criticizing Mr. Loughran as county superintendent but he wanted to know where the money was to be spent and if necessary to raise such a large sum now.

Supervisor Dunsberg stated that there was a large bridge in Napanoch which was bad and one in Gardiner 120 feet long which was in bad shape and also one in Hurley. In Shandaken there were two or three bridges which were a county charge which had been wrecked by a recent flood.

Mr. George asked if the committee had examined every bridge in the county which had been condemned and taken over by the county. He said he was not opposed to building bridges but thought the board should be given a list of the bridges to be built.

Terwilliger said he wanted to know if his bridge was in the list and he was not criticizing Mr. Loughran.

Supervisor Dunsberg then moved that the matter be laid over until such time as County Superintendent Loughran could give a list of the bridges in need of construction.

Mr. DeWitt explained that the county had experienced a few years ago the result of having made no bridge appropriation. There was a flood and need of money to make repairs. A special meeting of the board had been called and an appropriation made to carry the county over the emergency. The officials from Albany had criticized the act and said it was illegal and that the county should have had a fund at hand and available.

Wright asked what would happen if $100,000 was appropriated and spent and there came a flood and need of money for work.

Supervisor Markle stated that he was not opposed to the appropriation but he wanted to be able to answer the questions of the people from his town when they asked him about the fund. He said he would vote Aye on the resolution.

Dunsberg stated that if the fund was appropriated it would not of necessity have to be all spent.

Each Bridge Voted
Chairman Elsworth then stated that any bridge built out of the fund would have to be sanctioned at a subsequent session of the board.

Mr. George then asked for a vote on his motion that the matter be referred back to the committee and a list of bridges to be built out of the appropriation supplied.

Chairman Elsworth stated that the George resolution was out of order except that part to re-commit it back to the committee for further investigation.

At that point Supervisor Markle who had started the discussion by inquiring what bridges were to be built out of the fund, asked Supervisor George to withdraw his motion to re-commit the matter and after Mr. Elsworth had stated that the board would have to vote where the money was to be spent before it could be spent the Denning supervisor withdrew his motion and the original resolution that the $100,000 be raised on the county was unanimously adopted.

1,000,000,000 Miniatures of Their Portraits Will Aid Fight Against Tuberculosis

The portraits of little George Volkman, age 3, and his sister Carol, age 7, adorn the 1932 Christmas Seal which will be sold for a penny each during the holiday season to finance the work of the 2034 affiliated tuberculosis associations. The children are shown posing for their famous artist-father, Edward Volkman, of Weehawken, N. J., designer of the seal, as he puts the finishing touch to the poster that will advertise the campaign and which he also designed.

Famous American Ships
The clipper ships were ships specially built and rigged for fast sailing. The clipper, as compared with the ordinary sailing vessel, was longer and generally of less beam in proportion to length. They were very sharp at the bows, which were hollowed more or less below the water line, and gracefully lined away toward the stern, which was almost always elliptical. The name clipper was first borne by the Baltimore clippers, famous as privateers in the early wars of the United States.

MOVE FOR SWEDISH REPUBLIC MAY MARK KING'S JUBILEE

By ELMER W. PETERSON

Stockholm (AP)—Working on governmental problems with a new social-democratic administration which, theoretically at least, would like to have Sweden a republic, King Gustaf V will celebrate the 25th anniversary of his reign on December 8 with his popularity undiminished.

It is not unlikely that the left wing of the riksdag will this year, as it has done before, introduce a resolution to change Sweden to a republic. It is more than likely, as has happened before, that the resolution will be voted down and that with the aid of the social democrats.

King's Personality Counts

In the continuance of this paradoxical situation, King Gustaf has unconsciously played a dominant role. His personal popularity, his entire accord with changing political trends, and his valuable services to his country, have given Sweden little reason to dispense with its royal family.

The human side of the king has helped to establish this feeling. The Swedes like to boast of his agility on the tennis court where he figures in tournaments on the Riviera as "Mr. G." They like to see him ride by on parade, sitting as erect as the youngest officer. They appreciate his prowess as a fisherman and a hunter and his skill at bridge.

Royal Power Limited

In the constitutional government which Sweden enjoys the king is neither figurehead nor dictator. In the exercise of authority he works with, and is limited by, his cabinet. Conduct of foreign policy is constitutionally in his hands but the riksdag exercises an effective control over it. He may declare war or conclude peace, but only after consulting the cabinet.

King Gustaf is, in effect, a "regulator" in what can be termed a democratic monarchy. He serves much as a permanent president would serve in a modern republic, as a balance wheel removed from politics, as a personality representing the idea of the Swedish state.

His reign has been both peaceful and troubled. When he ascended the throne on December 8, 1907, the union between Sweden and Norway had just been ended, creating a lively political situation. Two years later Sweden experienced a general strike which threatened to develop into a revolution.

A Democratic King

King Gustaf of Sweden who, on December 8, celebrates a full quarter of a century as monarch of that country.

During the world war with Sweden pressed hard in the matter of neutrality and with some disagreement on the subject in the country, King Gustaf made good use of his calm patience.

His reign has been characterized by political democratization, by extension of the franchise to women, by the up movement of social democrats and left wing groups, by marked social reforms, tremendous industrialization and modernization along all lines, and a radical change in the whole international situation in northern Europe.

Matters Before The Surrogate

After providing for payment of debts and funeral expenses, and establishing a trust fund of $100 with the Reformed Church of North Marlborough for care of the Peter D. Brink plot in the church cemetery the will of James O. Brink, who died in Stone Ridge August 26, bequeaths the remainder of the estate to the two nieces, Della B. and Helen H. Clarke of Stone Ridge. Helen H. Clarke is named executrix and V. B. VanWagoner is the attorney. The estate consists of personal and real not to exceed $1,500 each.

Letters of administration in the estate of George Sherman, late of Kerhonkson, who died in the Kingston Hospital October 31, issued to Fred L. Sherman, a son. Other heirs, in addition to the administrator are Helen, Edith, Henry, Eleanor, Mildred, Hamilton and Doris Sherman, all of Kerhonkson. There is real property of an estimated value of $5,000 and personal estimated at $6,000. H. H. Flemming is the attorney.

Scientists Find Athletic Vitamin

New York, Dec. 2 (AP)—Proof that there is an athletic vitamin is announced by two English scientists, H. Munro Fox and G. Pugh Smith, of the University of Birmingham.

They took the muscles of frogs that were ready for the stew pan, and caused them to take artificial exercise by attaching electric wires to the nerves, thereby stimulating the muscles to contract and relax in regular athletic fashion.

Next they fed these fatigued muscles to the larvae of blow flies. To other larvae they fed "rested" frog muscles. The larvae which ate the "exercised" muscles grew larger than their brothers in 15 out of 15 experiments. The average excess weight was 9 per cent.

"Muscular exercise," says the report explaining in Nature, the British science journal, what probably happens, "results in development of the muscles concerned, and it influences other parts of the body. A metabolic product of muscular activity is probably responsible for the increased muscle size, and it is possible that such a hormone may circulate in the blood and stimulate other organs."

When trying packages to be mailed, stamp the string and it will hold tighter.

The Secret of Being Well Dressed

By CHERRIE NICHOLAS

SPEAKING about this matter of what to wear and when to wear it, the real emphasis should be placed on that little word "when," for no matter how costly or how perfect in detail the ensemble, if it be a sports costume when it should have been a dinner gown or an afternoon dress when it should have been a formal—well, why describe the feeling!

As to the secret of being well dressed, it really is no secret at all, at least to the woman who possesses the happy faculty (it does seem to be a gift with some) of knowing exactly the right costume for the right place and at the right time. To her, even though her budget be limited, the matter of being correctly gowned is as an open book.

However, one need not worry much this season about the when, what and where of dress, for the very fashions themselves are making the matter clear to us without leaving a doubt.

Consider, for instance, the trio of handsome costumes herewith illustrated. At a glance one visions the setting in which each belongs. Let us begin with the smart daytime dress posed in the center foreground. It is every inch patrician and precisely what it looks to be—a costume to wear about town. This stunning dress is made of a beautiful soft ratine crepe of bengal (a new fabric) which lends itself particularly well to the mould-to-the-figure silhouette which is favored by best dressed women for their street costumes. Its modified width at the shoulders, its convertible neckline (the gray astrakhan scarf collar may also be worn swirled low at the throat) and its novel cuff treatment are all points of style interest. Gray and silver details provide a striking contrast to the deep red of the fabric. The fact that the bengal crepe which fashions it is red is significant, for seldom occurs a season in which red of all degrees is so much in evidence as now.

Just a glance at the lavishly styled two-piece dress to the right and one immediately senses its proper place. Its environment is at an afternoon club reception, or tea at five, or a matinee or a musicale or some such gathering of the elite. A gracefully draped peplum distinguishes the blouse which is made of quality-kind white satin. The skirt and the lower portion of the sleeve are of black velvet. The idea of combining satin and velvet is one which many style leaders are advancing. Of course there must be a touch of fur which in this instance is expressed in a bordering of silver fox on the sleeves. The velvet toque with its subtle little veil is typical of millinery trends for afternoon.

An evening dress, and it could be mistaken for none other, is shown to the left. It also follows the late mode of making up satin and velvet together. Note the fitted line across the diaphragm and the longer skirt. The crepe satin of the gown is brown, so is the wide velvet ribbon which trims it for brown as a fashionable color is decidedly in the ascendency. © 1932, Western Newspaper Union.

Elvira's Duty

By ROSE MEREDITH

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate, INC. Service

"OF COURSE you're mighty contented, and I guess happy, down there in Forbestown. Elvira—I hear there's a young man who is sweet on you, too—but if it ain't your plain duty to go out to your brother Joe, then, I'm all wrong!"

Elvira Peck stared at her aunt amazedly. "Of course Joe has Anna—she was beginning, when Aunt Sarah's shocked face stilled her. "What is it, Auntie—what has happened to Joe—I haven't heard a word."

"Don't you know that Annie died last week?" demanded Mrs. Smith. "I sent you a letter."

Elvira sank into a chair. "I never heard a word—please tell me—poor, poor old Joe—of course I will go out to him," she said.

"That sounds more like you, Elvira! I couldn't understand why you didn't come right home as soon as you got my letter—instead of taking that trip to Forbestown with the other school teachers—I just said, 'It ain't a bit like Elvira Peck!'"

"But I never received your letter," protested the girl.

Aunt Sarah stared at her niece and then suddenly began to paw over the contents of the desk before which she sat. At last she brought out an addressed and stamped letter.

"Elvira Peck—I am ashamed of myself, so I am—here's the very letter I wrote to you when the telegram came—and one I wrote to your cousin Eva Lane at the same time. I wrote to all the other cousins, too, but I was so excited when I gave the letters to your Uncle Oscar to mail that I didn't get 'em all in! To think of your going off and having a good time and your poor brother in such deep grief!"

So it happened that the very next day, Elvira was on her way West, her heart sore for poor Joe, all alone in his trouble and just a little sore on her own account, for there was a man right in Forbestown who had paid much attention to Elvira, and who had hinted that he would never marry any other girl. They were not engaged, but she could not help but know that Daniel Rush was hovering around the point of an avowal of his love. Elvira liked him a lot—but somehow there was always a little distrust of his weakness of character, that was a warning when she was tempted to encourage Daniel.

At the small Wyoming station, Joe Peck came to meet her in a large automobile. He appeared sad, but being of a strong, resolute nature, he was bearing his loss well. He smiled when Elvira told him about the mislaid letter and patted her shoulder when she cried and told him of her grief over the loss of her sister-in-law. Altogether, he was much like the Joe of old.

"Your coming is a wonderful blessing to me, Elvira," he told her that night. "Of course if we had had any children it would be different—but it's just dumb lonely here at night."

Elvira could see that, and did everything in her power to lighten her brother's burden, and to make the big ranch house bright and cheerful during the long evenings. She slipped into the life of the ranch, managing the willing old Chinese cook with wonderful diplomacy. The cowboys all worshiped her.

But days and weeks passed, and she never had a word from Daniel Rush.

And then, one evening, there came a knock at the door, and Joe admitted a very tall young man, Billy Brainerd, a big handsome young man, with honest blue eyes and a humorous mouth.

"I'm mighty glad that you are here, Miss Peck," he told Elvira. "I am sure that you and my sister will hit it off splendidly—and we four can have a game of cards every night if we want to."

"How jolly," cried Elvira, "and is your place very near Mr. Brainerd?" "Oh, no, only about ten miles," he said easily. "Jean and I have been away to Colorado, and did not hear of the sad news that our friend Joe had suffered a great loss, until tonight. So I just come over and Jean sent her love and sympathy. Jove, if she had known that you were here, Miss Peck, she would have come along, too."

That was the beginning of a very happy time for Elvira Peck and her brother Joe, even though his loss was new and the wound was raw. The Brainerds were good friends, and the quiet friendliness of the brother and sister made a perfect summer for Elvira and did much to assuage Joe's own trouble.

And then one day there came a letter from Aunt Sarah with a bit of keenly interesting information. "You remember that young fellow in Forbestown, who used to be your friend, Elvira? Well, he's suddenly ran off and married Carrie Peters—you remember the milliner's daughter? No particular reason why they shouldn't have had a real wedding at home—but folks say he's real flighty that way."

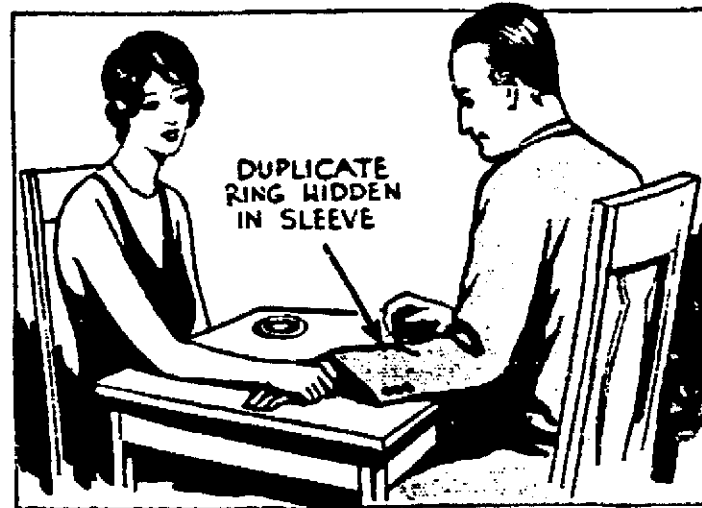

Elvira smiled when she read that letter, and the very next day she wrote a long letter to her aunt, telling her the delightful news of her own engagement to Billy Brainerd, and she hinted that in June there would be another announcement of happiness in his sincere love for Jean Brainerd. So she wrote, "You can see that my coming out here to do my duty by dear old Joe, has proved to be life-long happiness for both of us."

His Affliction

A teacher had told her class of youngsters that Milton, the poet, was blind. The next day she asked if any of them could remember what Milton's great affliction was. "Yes'm," replied one little fellow; "he was a poet!" —Johannes.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED

A SPLIT RING TRICK

You must have portiere rings, large enough to slip over your hand, to do this trick. Slip one over the hand and wrist of your left hand, and push it up the arm until it is held secure and will not fall when the arm hangs. Then take the other ring and appear before your audience. Ask some person to sit at one side of a table, you sit at the other side, and place the duplicate ring in the center. Tell the person to grasp your left wrist, hold it tight, and then announce that you will make the ring on the table appear on the wrist without the person releasing his or her hold.

Trickling say that as this is a spirit trick you must perform it in darkness, and request that the lights be extinguished. When this is done, you take the ring from the table, transfer it to your pocket, and for the one hidden under your sleeve drop to the wrist. When the lights are turned on the ring will have disappeared from the table, and will be found on the wrist.

Edward B. Miller of Woodland was in town Wednesday calling on friends.

William, Jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. William Joy of 5 East Pierpont street, was removed from the family home to the Benedictine Hospital in the ambulance on Thursday.

Mrs. W. Dean Hays of Fair street had as her guests during the Thanksgiving week-end, her brother, John Hays, and wife, and their son, Vernon, and wife, of Newark, N. J., also Mrs. Bertha Hommel of Floral Park, Long Island.

The steamer has aboard a record passenger list of tourists proceeding around-the-world. Among the interesting and colorful ports which the travelers will visit are Honolulu, Kobe, Shanghai, Manila, Singapore, Penang, Cebu, Bombay, Suez, Port Said, Alexandria, Naples and Marseilles.

A Measure

Whoever makes too much or too little of himself has a false measure for everything.—Lavater.

WEST SHOKAN.

Mrs. Lottie Campbell was ill Thursday with a heavy cold. Scarcely anyone it seems has missed the epidemic of colds which is going the rounds this fall.

Current turkey prices compare quite favorably with that when local growers received 20 years ago. When Thanksgiving turkeys brought 20 cents per pound live weight. Chickens then sold for 15 cents live weight. Years ago nearly every farmer raised his little flock of turkeys numbering from two to a dozen depending on a good or poor season.

Carpenter Harold Constable has been engaged putting on roofing for Robert Van Kleek of Broadhead.

Tuesday was hog killing day at the farm of Jordan Brothers of Broadhead Heights, where five fine hogs were hung up before noon. Rabbit hunting is very much in vogue of late. Sheriff Claude Bell and Judge Lester Davis are among the more successful sportsmen afield.

Elwyn Davis and daughter Marjorie, were business callers in Kingston Friday morning.

Santi Cassalino and Roy Paten are busy with the wood job on the Watson Hollow Inn property. A great long rack of fireplace wood attests to their diligence and ability. Foster Shults, well known Western farmer and huntsman, visited friends about West Shokan Heights on Thursday. Mr. Shults said he had read in The Freeman about big turkeys and heavy crops of potatoes raised over this way and he just couldn't wait any longer to see for himself, and find out just how it is done.

Charles Duloff of Boiceville called on Messrs. Davis and Hesley at West Shokan Heights on Friday morning. Mr. Duloff has a rush order of custom sawing. His neighbor, Leonard Colanale, also has a quantity of logs ready to haul to the mill for sawing.

Martin J. Every of Traver Hollow has been busy for the past couple of days splitting and drawing wood to the back porch, where he has a huge pile.

Joe Winkler and Johnnie Nagle assisted Bernard Dwyer with his pesky job of drawing fire wood one day early this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard Bell of Main street were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin J. Every of Traver Hollow on Wednesday.

Mrs. Minnie Smith of Main street was a caller in West Shokan Heights on Thursday afternoon.

It is learned with regret that Mrs. Martin Roe of West Shokan Heights is again confined to her bed, due to a relapse of her recent serious illness. Her many friends sympathize keenly and trust that she may soon be on the road to recovery.

While playing out of doors on Friday, little Jennie Beedle, second granddaughter of Mrs. Edward Beedle, of Traver Hollow, had the misfortune to break her arm.

Edwin Gessner and assistant, William Beemer, of Olive Bridge, were employed at plumbing work on Thursday at the residence of Mrs. Watson Bishop, Mrs. Chase Davis and Mrs. Minnie Smith.

Martin J. Every, turkey expert of Traver Hollow, delivered 100 pounds of turkey to Mrs. Hazelle Wager of Church Hill, Shokan, to be used for the private Grange supper to be held in Mt. Tremper.

Mrs. Frank Whittier of Tuckaway Farm called on her neighbor, Mrs. Chase Davis, on Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Jack McDonald and small daughter, Gertrude, of Poughkeepsie, arrived on Thursday to spend a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Van Kleek, of Broadhead.

When "Dog Collar" Was Mark of Swell Dresser

Do you know what the well-dressed man in America wore 1,000 years ago? It is what science calls the "dog collar." A skeleton of an ancient dignitary with six strings of slate, shell and stone beads about the neck was found by Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts, Jr., Smithsonian institution archaeologist, while excavating parts of an ancient Pueblo site in Arizona. In the course of his work Doctor Roberts came upon the ruins of the oldest structure in North America which it has been possible to date exactly by the tree-ring method. This was an Indian dwelling which was destroyed in the year 787 A. D. Further finds show that this may have marked about the transition period between the dominance of the primitive "basket-makers" in the Southwest and the invading Pueblo peoples who evolved one of the highest cultures in the New world before the coming of the white man. Doctor Roberts found 70 burials, with skeletal material he expects will prove valuable to anthropologists. Among these was the skeleton of the man with the "dog collar."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Squirrels and Monkeys Have Antics in Common

"Antics of monkeys aloft in coconut trees of the tropics have nothing on those of the Douglas squirrels of our dense forests," writes a park ranger in "Mt. Ranier National Park Notes." He was referring to the dropping of cones by the squirrels from the tops of fir trees.

While these antics are not quite as heavy as coconuts, he points out, they are unusually large and compact, some of them weighing a pound or more, and one of them dropping on the top of the head from a height of 150 feet "offers food for thought."

Recently when this ranger and a companion were trying to photograph some of these squirrels along the trail from Longlake to Sunrise they were forced to make a hasty retreat, so fierce was the onslaught of cones. At the approach of the men the squirrel had immediately scurried to the topmost branches of some fir trees and begun cutting cones at a reckless rate.

WHY

Deep Plowing Causes Land to Retain Moisture.

I think one of the principal reasons for land drying out so quickly these days is due to too shallow breaking. This is the case with the average small farmer. Too many farmers wait until spring to break their land, which is then broken only three or four inches deep. At this season the weather is becoming warm, they are in a hurry, and don't wish to pull their teams too hard.

For land to retain moisture best, it should be broken deeply during late fall and winter. At this season the team will not mind the hard work so much, as the weather is cool, and a good day's work can be done. At this season we are not in too big a hurry to get the plowing done, as plowing is not pushing us as in spring.

Again, too much land is left bare during the winter. If a good cover crop is on it and turned under deeply in mid-spring, such land will hold the moisture much longer than clean or bare land. What our lands need is good, deep breaking, with a cover crop of rye, clover, vetch, etc., turned under for a green-manure crop.

The past summer has been quite dry, and my neighbor turned under a crimson clover crop the latter part of May. He planted the clover fallow to corn about the first week in June. This piece of land will produce four or five barrels of corn per acre, while the other land he planted to corn without a cover crop fallow, will not produce one-half of a barrel per acre. The clover fallow land did not suffer nearly as much as where no cover crop was fallowed under. Deep plowing under of such crops will have a great tendency to hold the moisture and also cause it to rise in droughty seasons.—"W. H. H." in Rural New Yorker.

Why Georgia Was Named "Empire State of South"

Probably the best explanation of the title, Empire State, for Georgia is given in the following paragraph from Jones' "History of Georgia": "Thus we endeavored . . . to present the history of Georgia from the earliest period to the epoch of her elevation into the dignity of an independent commonwealth. Henceforth it will be our pleasure and privilege to trace her progress as augmenting daily in population and material wealth, developing year by year in resources and capabilities and through the intervention of wise constitutions, sage rulers, good government, educational advancement, commercial connections and fruitful fields encouraging the intellect, the enterprise, the independence . . . and the virtue of her citizens. She has grown mightier with each generation until now the insignificant colony planted by Oglethorpe upon Yamacraw bluff is saluted as the 'Empire State of the South.'"

Why Tune Is Famous

A sound off, compiled by Edward Arthur Dolph, says: "Garryowen" is the most famous regimental march in our army. For more than half a century this rollicking old Irish tune has been inseparably joined with the name of George A. Custer in the annals of the Seventh cavalry. In 1888 the Seventh under General Custer was engaged in a campaign against the Cheyennes near Washita, Wyo. On the morning of November 23, after a long, hard march through the knee-deep snow, the regiment discovered the camp of Chief Black Kettle. At dawn, just as the bugles were sounding the charge, the band struck up "Garryowen." To its stirring notes the Seventh charged the camp from three sides and completely defeated the Indians.

Why Moon Is Obscured

The phases of the moon depend on its position. When it is almost between the earth and the sun we see only the edge of the illuminated disk, which is the crescent in the evening (or morning) sky. A week later the moon has moved farther to the east, revealing one-half the illuminated disk. Another week later at full moon (or two weeks after new moon) the earth is between the sun and the moon, and therefore we see the entire illuminated disk. The earth's shadow does not cause the phases of the moon.

Why Snakes Are Harmless

"Two species of rattlesnakes and the bull and the whip snake are carried in the Hopi snake dance," according to the bureau of American ethnology. "The latter two are not venomous. The celebrants are rarely bitten by the dangerous snakes, a fact due largely to careful handling and to the 'herding' to which the snakes have been subjected between the time when they are gathered and the dance."

Why Fire Prevention Pays

It pays to prevent fires in forests and woods. Foresters measured tree growth for 13 years on two plots of longleaf pine in North Carolina, one plot being burned over each year and the other being kept free from fire. The trees on the fire-protected plot grew 19 per cent faster in height, 9 per cent quicker in diameter, and 22 per cent faster in volume.

Why "The Thunderer"

The London Times was facetiously spoken of as "The Thunderer" in the middle of the Nineteenth century in allusion to an article by one of its editors, Edward Sterling, which began, "We thundered forth the other day."

Athens Horse Race

The first horse race was run in 600 B. C. in the twenty-third Olympiad at Athens. The distance was four miles. Eight years later the first harness horse competition took place in the twenty-fifth Olympiad, when the horses drew chariots.

She was a woman whose Christian character endeared her to a host of friends. She is survived by her husband. Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at St. Mark's A. M. E. Church on Foxhall avenue with the Rev. A. L. Hughes and the Rev. Mr. Barrow in charge of the services. Interment in Mt. Zion cemetery.

John T. Watson, building contractor, died at his home in Flushing on Wednesday in his fifty-seventh year. Funeral services will be held from the late residence, 154-22 Barclay avenue, Flushing, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Watson was a son of the late Robert Watson, Sr., of this city, and is a former resident of Kingston. He had been engaged in the building trades in Flushing for over a quarter of a century. Besides his wife he is survived by two sons, Raymond and Robert; three brothers, Robert Watson, Jr., of Poughkeepsie and Arthur J. Watson and Ralph Watson both of Flushing, and a sister, Mrs. Esther McAllister, also of Flushing.

Ellenville, Dec. 2.—Mrs. Hattie L. Cole died at the home of her son, Waldo Cole, of Warren street on Tuesday, after an illness of several months. Funeral services were held at the home Friday afternoon and interment was in Greenfield Park. Mrs. Cole was born at New York Mills, February 22, 1855, a daughter of Spencer and Salome Dutton Lane. She was married on June 2, 1878, to the Rev. Sidney M. Cole. They made their home in New Hamburg. Besides her husband and son, Mrs. Cole leaves a brother, Alfred V. Lane, of Rochester, two sisters, Mrs. Henry Hetzel of Liverpool, N. Y., and Mrs. Charles Loder of Rush, N. Y., and three granddaughters, the Misses Dorothy, Marjorie and Josie Lou Cole of Ellenville.

Ellenville, Dec. 2.—Mrs. Parley C. Morse of Kerhonkson died very suddenly in New York city Wednesday afternoon where she was visiting Mrs. Otto Ella. Mrs. Morse suddenly became ill while driving her car and drove into the curb where she died before a doctor could be summoned. Mrs. Morse was a member of the Dutch Reformed Church of Kerhonkson, also of the Ladies' Aid of that church, the Eastern Star of Kingston and the Farm Bureau. The funeral will be held on Sunday at 3 p. m. in the Dutch Reformed Church in Kerhonkson, the Rev. M. N. Kalemjian officiating, assisted by the Rev. Frank Hastings of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Burial services will be held on Monday at the Hope cemetery in Worcester, Mass. Surviving Mrs. Morse are her husband, Parley C. Morse, and one sister, Mrs. Bertha Weixler, of East Milton, Mass.

The funeral of Mrs. Magdalena Miller was held this morning from her late home, 97 Hudson street, at 9 o'clock and 9:30 o'clock at St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev. John P. Neumann, pastor of the church. The services were well attended by her many relatives and friends of the city and also by a large number of residents from South Roadout where for many years the deceased made her home. Beautiful floral tributes and numerous Mass cards in the form of spiritual bouquets were sent to the home during the bereavement. At the conclusion of the Mass William Raible sang very feelingly "When Day's Shadows Lengthen." The bearers were John Heppner, Henry Dittus, Alexander Ostrander, George Thomas, Walter Higgins and Bernard Coughlin. The interment was made in the family plot in Montrose cemetery.

Church Tokens in Use in Canada's Early Days

Church tokens were coin-like metal pieces of various shapes, round, oblong, oval, square, or six or eight sided, used long ago in Canadian Presbyterian churches as tickets of admittance to the Lord's Supper. Some were crude products of a blacksmith's shop, or, simpler still, the work of some pioneer minister, who, rather than depart from any of the cherished customs of his people, would cut them roughly from a piece of tin or whatever metal was nearest to his hand. Others were as beautifully made as any of our modern coins, bearing the name of the church for which they were made, the date of its erection, and frequently a text, such as, "Do this in remembrance of Me," or "Let a man examine himself."

In some of the old Scottish churches Communion was celebrated only once or twice a year, and then it was an outstanding occasion. As early as Wednesday the devout would begin to arrive from a distance, often having made the journey on foot. Thursday was a "fast" day when everyone went to church, and when the minister exhorted his congregation to confess their sins humbly to God, and to plead for His forgiveness that they might be cleansed and be found worthy to approach the Table.—Montreal Family Herald.

Antlers Develop Quickly

White buck deer usually add only two points to their antlers each year, but "Dick," a two-year-old deer at the John Phillips game refuge, Latrobe, Pa., appeared with an eight-point set of antlers.

Napanoch Bureau Is Over The Top

More homesteaders in the Napanoch community are seeking more information to help them in their problems of homesteading. This year is evident from the fact that their vice chairman, Mrs. William Ceterhout, chairman of the Napanoch bureau, reported to the county membership on Thursday 27 paid memberships for the coming year. This exceeds the 1931 membership by four. Napanoch is close on the heels of Stone Ridge with a paid up membership for 1932 of 31. The advisor for the Napanoch community from the executive committee of the Home Bureau is Mrs. William Warden of Harley. Mrs. C. C. Harden of Stone Ridge is the advisor for the Stone Ridge community.

Other communities have sent in paid up memberships to the county as follows:

Albany	17
Andover	12
Catskill	1
Flamish	23
Gardiner	8
High Falls	9
Marble	12
Kingston	1
Lake Katrine	12
Monticello	18
Shokan	10
Stone Ridge	31
Out of county members	3
Total	270

Other communities have reported prospects of equalling their last year's membership and some others are fully expecting to exceed their membership of last year. No doubt the report at the annual meeting December 6 will far exceed the above figures.

K. H. S. Reports Out.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will Lindhorst

HOW TO MAKE PENCIL VANISH FROM YOUR HAND

Hold a pencil from some one in your audience and announce that you will make it disappear in your hand. Hold the pencil upright, ask some one to cover it with a handkerchief, and feel it beneath the handkerchief to be sure it is there. Then straighten up the index finger of the hand holding the pencil beneath the handkerchief and at the same time let the pencil drop into the sleeve of your coat. Now say "Presto!" jerk the handkerchief away, and as you do so quickly bend the finger back into its original position, and the pencil has disappeared.

LODGES PROTEST ON TREASURY RULING.

Washington, Dec. 2 (AP).—Senator Reed (R., Pa.), after a joint conference with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson, said today he had lodged a protest against a treasury department ruling that the coal tariff violated the most favored nation clause of the United States commercial treaties with Great Britain and Germany.

Reed asserted this ruling, if maintained, would "be calamitous."

"It would shut up any number of mines in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and elsewhere," he said.

Full House Grooms Bouquet Meeting

From Rosendale to Milton, the women of Ulster county came Friday afternoon to see the demonstration of "Winter Bouquets" given by Miss Lucille Smith, specialist in floriculture from the State College of Home Economics. A large crowd was held in the Home Service Department of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, 411 Broadway, and all seats were taken.

Miss Smith emphasized the use of native weeds and plants that can be used in making artistic winter bouquets. Gray and red stemmed dogwood, high bush cranberry, sumac, willow, golden rod, milk weed pods, pepper grass, sensitive fern, sour dock, cat tail, beach, bittersweet, barberry, different species of static and grasses were among the materials named and used by Miss Smith, since design on container is apt to detract from the floral arrangement. In a natural pottery flower jar Miss Smith made up a charming arrangement of laurel and sumac. The sumac used was of the Canadian variety, having deep soft red coloring. In a tall brown pottery jar an arrangement of sumac and white pine made a most interesting picture. Other combinations used were: milk weed pods, sprays of soft grayish seed pods from the mint family with a spray or two of bittersweet. This was used in an orange colored jar.

In a small soft green pottery mug was placed barberry alone, and barberry with dried yarrow and a stalk of dried snapdragon. An arrangement quite Japanese in effect was that of a few sprays of barberry in a drift blue pottery container.
Containers of cheap materials made artistic through painted charming colors was shown by Miss Smith. A thin coffee can painted a deep blue, a mayonnaise jar painted and finished to give the effect of pottery were some of the articles used. In the coffee can a beautiful effect was achieved through an arrangement of pampas grass, golden rod and yellow yarrow. In the painted mayonnaise jar, fern and barberry gave a harmonious effect.
Much interest was created in the use of native and other material and an appreciation of the beauty in the plant life of Ulster county was aroused. The demonstration will be repeated by Miss Nance at New Paltz the afternoon of December 15.

Soak blood stained articles in one quart of lukewarm water to which 2 tablespoons of household ammonia have been added.

Pitt to Play in Annual Rose Game

Four round supporters are as follows: Johnny Walker, Pittsfield, Mass., vs. Joe Chapman, Brooklyn. Kid Bono, Poughkeepsie vs. Tito Perez, Brooklyn. Baby Barrow, brother of the heavyweight Willie Barrow, vs. Jack Arnold, Rosendale. Battling Lurie, Kingston vs. Joe Benjamin, Saugerties. The latter is a return match, Benjamin having defeated Lurie some time ago in one of the most comical boxing exhibitions ever put on here. Indications are that it will help materially in drawing a crowd to the scraps.

Schrader Won First Billiard Match

Johnny Schrader, who is attempting a comeback in local billiards, got off to a good start last night when he won his first tournament match from Bob East by a 100 to 90 score. While there were no high runs or particularly sensational shots both men were quite consistent with runs of from 2 to 10 and the match was rapidly played. The score was tied several times during the match and it was not until the 90 point mark was reached that Schrader went on to win.

SPORT SLANTS

By Alva J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The background on all this hysteria concerning the prolate spheroid is out at last, thanks to the diligence of Lou Bookover of Cornell. Lou sets the "assist" but the "putout" goes to Professor Emeritus C. H. G. & E. Corp., long the head of Cornell's department of chemistry, former president of the Cornell Athletic Council and an original member of the Eastern football rules committee.

Professor Dennis was chairman of the rules committee at the time he was asked to codify the football rules to write proper definitions. From there, Bookover takes up the story of the prolate spheroid.

"He decided to start at the beginning and state what sort of an implement should be used in playing the game. The only definition of the ball to be used was Walter Camp's. It read: 'The ball is an oval leather cover containing a rubber inner, which is inflated by means of a small air pump or the lungs.'"

"It doesn't take an Einstein to see that a football is not an oval. For an oval, any high school student will tell you, is a flat surface, whereas a football is a solid.

"The point about the ball being inflated is a good one. Walter Camp's definition, at least on one occasion, stopped a bitter argument in the early years of this century. In a game between Cornell and Princeton, someone punted, someone received, and in the melee the ball emerged as flat as a pancake.

"One side wanted to continue the game with the ball 'as is,' the other contended that the ball had to be inflated. The game was stopped until a long limbed individual raced up the famous Ithaca Hills to the campus and brought back the rules book with the above definition. The game then continued with an inflated ball.

DEFINITIONS

Fields—agricultural areas located between golf courses.

Natatorium—the old swimming hole after it enters college.

Optimism—starting out to play 18 holes with only one ball.

Country—the green stuff motorists see between the billboards.

Friend—a person who doesn't tell you about his vacation when he gets back.

Philosopher—a chap who enjoys looking at the circus posters when he lacks the price of admission.

Claustrophobia—medical term for morbid dread of cramped spaces, such as phone booths, upper berths and a 1932 budget.—Boston Transcript.

Quilts in History

The history of quilts is involved in a tradition of long centuries of slow but certain progress; in fact, the origin of all domestic arts is shrouded in mystery. No positive reference to patchwork or quilting is found in western Europe prior to the time of the Crusades, but from the eleventh century these arts become more and more conspicuous in the needlecraft of nearly every country in western Europe.

Rescue Doe Caught In Ice on Lake

Thursday afternoon a large doe was caught in the ice of Cooper's Lake while trying to cross. The doe had thrashed about 500 feet through the ice to within 100 feet of the shore. After many unsuccessful attempts had been made to bring the deer to shore a rope was finally procured and given to Godfrey Berger of Poughkeepsie, who crawled out on the thin ice and lassoed the deer, which was pulled to shore by Trooper Metzger and Sergeant Cunningham, assisted by Everett Blake of Poughkeepsie and Orman Hermance of Lake Katrine. When the deer was finally on dry land and liberated, she dashed off into the woods, probably grateful to her rescuers.
